The provisions of the bill creating a central tax commission for the state of Kentucky was discussed by members of the tax commission at a luncheon at the Scelbach hotel, Louisville. The provisions of the bill were explained in detail to those present by Prof. Plehn, of the University of California, who has been employed studying conditions in this state and in drafting the proposed bill.

Those present were Lieut, Gov. Me-Dermott, Speaker Terrell, Senator W. B. Moody, of Newcastle; Senator W. A. Frost, of Wingo, and Representatives Elwood Hamilton, of Frankfort, and Peter Lee Atherton, of Louisville.

The tax limit will be submitted in a separate bill. The commission estimates that property generally in Kentucky is assessed at about 50 per cent of its fair cash value.

Reprint An Old Yarn.

The Washington newspapers, incensed because Representative Ben Johnson's committee has reported favorably a bill doing away with the half-and-half policy by which the government supports the District of Columbia, are all printing columns of matter with this scare head: "Kentucky owes nation big sum." The articles relate that Kentucky has never repaid the sum of $1,433,757 deposited with it by the federal government in 1836 and quotes Treasurer Burke, of the United States, as saying that he will inquire whether the sum can not be "recovered."

Robert J. Tracewell, former Controller of the Treasury, said: "In 1836 the government had such a hugh surplus that it didn't know what to do with it. Accordingly, it deposited about $21,000,000 with the states then in the union. The agreement was that these states were to pay back the money if the government ever requested it. Therefore, the states, including Kentucky, have never paid. This is an old yarn which is dug up ever so
